Food for bees with vitamins and proteins.

Food for Bees

Apipasta is a complete bee food that does not contaminate honey with sugars.

Description

Apipasta is a very complete food made from a mixture of paste foods, with sugar and glucose and fructose syrups, enriched with vitamins. It is recommended for autumn/winter maintenance. The Apipasta is a food for bees that does not require prior preparation or water. Easy to assimilate by bees. One of the fundamental aspects of this food for bees is that Apipasta is not stored in the hive, thus avoiding contamination of the honey with sugars. Can be stored for more than 18 months. They do not contain Hydroxymethylfurfural (HMF). Excellent for use during autumn and winter feeding.

Conservation

Store in a cool, dry place, and preferably at an ambient temperature of approximately 15 °C.
